Learning Experience

During the development of this fourth project, I did have that much struggle with the method and different classes that I code this time. Instead I as always had a little of difficulty getting at my code right so it can read the file and looking to catch all the possible ways an exception could occur.

I feel really good about this project because I started earlier than in other occasions, which allow me to read, study and watch some videos about all the new topic that we learned the past two weeks. Something that I began doing with this project is to write some general code that I feel is commonly used for other situations and creating a folder. This way I can reach back there and refresh my memory about how to code the solutions for my future codes.
